GLS Ireland delivers worldwide

- Documents and parcels shipped to virtually every country in the world
- Delivery to important business centres in just a few days
- Shipping made easy

Dublin, 15 January 2020. The parcel service provider GLS Ireland has added GlobalBusinessParcel to its portfolio of services. Whether the USA, Japan or Australia, consignments reach major business centres in three to five days, with customers benefiting from speedy and straightforward processing.

With GlobalBusinessParcel, GLS delivers documents and goods to almost every corner of the globe.¹ Andreas Rickert, Managing Director of GLS Ireland, says: “Our new product is tailored to the needs of SMEs who wish to diversify into global markets and who attach great importance to having a single shipping partner.”

Thanks to its access to a strong global distribution network, GLS Ireland is able to ensure speedy delivery – combined with the same high quality and security standards that apply to all GLS parcels. Senders can track their consignment online, all the way from collection to delivery.

Fast, convenient and more flexible

GLS takes care of all customs related work upon request. The parcel service provider has also developed a new online tool that combines numerous practical features for exporting to third countries in order to streamline and speed up processes for customers. For the same purpose, GLS has launched new interfaces, e.g. with Irish customs. Furthermore, anyone who already uses GLS to send parcels within Europe will benefit from a single point of contact, dispatch system and label for all their parcels.

“GlobalBusinessParcel is another solution that allows us to offer greater flexibility for senders. We are delighted with the interest already shown by our customers,” explains Andreas Rickert. “Demand is particularly high for shipping to the USA.”

¹ Deliveries do not take place to countries where the political situation is highly unstable.
